

Dropwort

Dropwort (Filipendula vulgaris) is a rosette forming perennial with toothed dark green leaves composed of leaflets. Creamy white flowers are often tinged pink in bud on slender branching stems. Blooming occurs mid summer.

Dropwort is a native perennial of chalk and limestone downs, found in rough grassland where it can persist for many years. However, it does require an open sward for regeneration, so if absence of grazing occurs it will eventually be lost.

Sowing Time: Autumn
