

Square St Johns Wort

Square St Johns Wort (Hypericum tetrapterum) is a native perennial herb growing up to 60cm. The flowers are pale yellow and are smaller than common St Johns Wort. There are numerous stamens with yellow anthers often having black marks. The leaves are opposite and are a broad ovals with variable amounts of black spots.

Square St Johns Wort is native of fertile, damp or wet soils in habitats including meadows, ditches, marshes and banks. It regenerates by seed and short rhizomes.

Sowing Time: Autumn

